

Bill Lake and Steve Hemmens

“Gentle, sometimes witty and just as often moving reflections at every turn” - Graham Reid

Guitarist, singer and songwriter Bill Lake is one of New Zealand’s most respected and long-serving practitioners. For more than four decades the singer and guitarist led the iconic country-blues band The Windy City Strugglers, as well as playing with pioneering rock group Mammal in the 70’s and fronting brassy funk-rockers The Pelicans in the 80’s. His songs have been covered by Midge Marsden, Darren Watson, Kokomo, The Rag Poets and Marg Layton.

Bassist Steve Hemmens played with Bill in Mammal. Recently returned from many years in the UK, he adds warmth and swing to the mix.
